A DAY OF ORATORY AND SENTIMENT AT BETHEL

Braxton and Daniel and Dr. Powers Make Addresses.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WARRIENTON, VA., August 12.—Wartime sentiment was rovived at Bethel today with the annual rounton of the Joe Kendall Camp of Confederate Veteruns. Rain this afternoon in no sense marred the proceedings. Major John W. Daniel and Dr. Dudley Powers were accorded an informal reception by the camp in the early part of the day, they being old friends of the Veterans.

Dr. Powers read an original poem entitled the 'Last Song of the Soldier,' and at Commander Henry Cochran's request delivered a brief address.

Allen Caperton Braxton, of Staunton, was next introduced by M. M. Green and cloquently dealt with his text, which was entitled "That Secession Was an Open Question in 1861."

Senator Daniel was introduced by Dr. Powers. His masterful oratory impressed everyone. His subject was "The Civic and Military Life of William Smith." His appeal to the young men of the South to take advantage of the many opportunities offered them 'was a striking feature of the latter part of his speech,

GREAT NEW BATTLESHIP CHRISTENED WITH WATER

Daughter of Governor Hoch, Sponser For Kansas, Launched Yesterday in Camden, N. J. Large Party Present.

CBy Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, August 12.—The battleship Kansas, the largest war vessel ever built in the East, was launched at 12:47 P. M. to-day at the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Company, in Canden, N. J. The launching was witnessed by Governor Hoch, of Kansas, whose daughter, Miss Anna Hoch, acted as sponsor for the ship. Along with the Governor was a christening party of thirty Kansans.

As was the case in the recent launching of the Washington, the automatic hydraulic trigger device was used, instead of the sole, piece method. Will the exception of the dog, or trip shores, at the stern, the two sied trigger arms were the only appliances holding the city of Lynchburg together, no candi-date for either place will have any lead over his competitors to brag on when over his competitors to brag on when the returns are in.

I have taken some pains to investigate the situation this week, and in so doing have talked with reliable and well posted leaders as to all three places. The men I saw are divided as to their choice for senator, and among them were Mann, Swanson and Willard supporters for Gov-while sharply divided on these two While sharply divided on these two questions, so far as their support is con-oerned, their forecasts as to results were not far apart, and they all emphasized the strength possessed by each of the aspirants. There are two striking features of the campaign up here to my-mind.

Judge Mann's Strength.

One is the very close race between Montague and Martin for senator, and the other the amazing strength being developed by Judge Mann for Governor. I was in Lynchburg some two months ago and was told that Senator Martin would easily carry the city. Since that time the Governor's friends have pulled him up to a paint which they say will put him in the lead on election day. They are stoutly claiming the city for their favorite, while the Martin leaders say they have held their own and will have a majority. However, it is a fact that neither side is prepared to say that there will be any big lead, and it is evident there will not. One Martin man, who is quite close to the situation, said he thought the senator would likely carry Lynchburg, but he added: "I would not be greatly surprised should it go the other way by a small majority." Over across the river in Amherst the Governor is very strong, and his friends are putting his majority anywhere from 200 to 400 in the county. The Martin people do not claim Amherst, as I understand it, but they say their man will give the Governor a hard run and that they may pull him through. Judge Mann's Strength. close in Nelson.

Close in Nelson.

If possible, it looks as though the situation in Nelson is as close and interesting regarding the senatorship as it is in Lynchburg. When the campaign opened up, the Montague forces were unorganized and scattered, and they laid no special claim to the county, though the Governor got all the delegates over Mr. Swanson four years ago. The conditions have changed materially since the battle got in full blast, and now the leaders are saying it is anybody's fight up here for senator.

Mr. Martin is strong along the James River and on the side of the country which touches Albemarle, while the Governor's greatest strength lies in the interior, the Rockfish Valloy, and the section nearest to Amherst. It is claimed that one precinct in the central portion of the county will give the Governor all her votes, save possibly one, but in others, where Senator Martin's friends have been more active, conditions may be reversed. In any event, it is a pretty safe forceast, based on reliable information, that wheever wins for senator in Nelson will have no large majority to add to others in the State, and that he'll have to fight hard on election day for what he gets.

Equally Interesting.

What he gets.

Equally Interesting.

The fight for Governor in the territory mentioned is hardly less interesting than that for senator. It is a hattle royal all round, with all the candidates showing the well.

tween the three cannot beheld.

They all have strong and influential leaders, who are carnestly and systematically at work for them, and the situation as to the final result is about as clear mind.

as to the final result is about as clear as mud.

"th's going to be close here," said a Willard supporter of reputation and influence, "Between whom?" was asked. "Between all three," was the answer; "it won't surprise me if either shall have a small lead."

Judge Mann is said to have grown more, relatively speaking, than either of his competitors in this section, in the latter days of the fight. He is strong in Amherst, and will not be far behind, if, indeed, he does not get first place. Willard and Swanson both have influential backers in Amherst, and will run well there on election day.

Swanson a Favorite.

Swanson a Favorite.

Swanson a Favorite.

Down here in Nelson Mr. Swanson is a favorite, having popular connections in the county, who have much to do with political events, but he'll not lead without a hard struggle with bath Mann and Willard, whose friends, as well as his, are active and influential. At first Nelson was generally conceded to Bwanson by a good lead, but he will have been quietly at work in the county of seen and there wire 'a head at the primary. The Willard people have been quietly at work in the county of the minute of the wire 'a head at the primary. Hard Struggle.

Mr. Massle is the incumbent, and is from Nelson. Mr. Strode is a brilliant young lawyer, and resides in Amherst. They are canvassing the district, and both have strong supporters. It looks now as if it is a question of which will be able to carry his own county by the larger majority, and the result for this reason appears in great doubt. The candidates for the House in Nelson are Dr. A. B. Pitzpatrick and Dr. John C. Everett, who are old-time antagonists, and they are both hard at work. hey are both hard at work.

"Mr. Gibbons, you will follow this prisoner to jail to there take from his person the pants in question. You will report to this court how well your duty has been performed," ordered Justice John of the balliff.

J. E. Walters a young white man, was charged with being disorderly on a street ear and the charge was proven against him. When arrested Walters continued to use profane language in the presence of ladies and the court was doubly severe upon him. His fine was $20. Not satisfied with the payment of the fine for his conduct, Walters went out of the court toom and confroonted the motorman, who he threatened Captain Guigon had a warrant issued immediately and Walters will have to answer to a charge of contempt of court.
